Hello Evelyn,

Tracy Gibbs asked me to prepare this brief for the Council in Committee meeting this coming Tuesday. Our presentation will be made by Brittany Burley and me. Please contact me with any details I may need.

The Poverty Action Partnership of Haldimand-Norfolk (PAPHN) is a collective of representatives from social service agencies, municipal governments, faith communities and the community at large. At our monthly meetings, we listen to the stories of people in our counties who are impacted by poverty. By developing an awareness of local issues, we advocate to all levels of government, offer annual educational programs and work in partnership with local groups to reduce the stigma felt by people who live in poverty. We believe that poverty is a violation of basic human rights and has a negative impact on everyone, and would like to share some of our current initiatives with the council members.
